1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

2. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chapman.

Chapman teaches a method of retrieving information and a user information retrieval device for retrieving information from one or more remote databases in an information retrieval system including a positioning system unit (140; 204 or 220) configured for determining the position coordinates of the user information retrieval device, a transmitter 106 configured for transmitting the position coordinates to a remote computer 150 over a wireless network, a receiver 104 configured for receiving information from the remote computer over the wireless network wherein the received information relates to one or more geographical sites within a given distance from the position coordinates of the user information retrieval device, and a user interface 110 configured for providing the received information to a user.

With regard to claims 11-13, 17-19, Chapman teaches a method of retrieving information and a remote computer for retrieving information from one or more remote databases in an information retrieval system including a receiver 162 configured for receiving the position
